

How Ohm's Law Obligates Formation Of A Basic Social Structure.

CHAPTER FOUR

Ohm's Law Of Superstition.

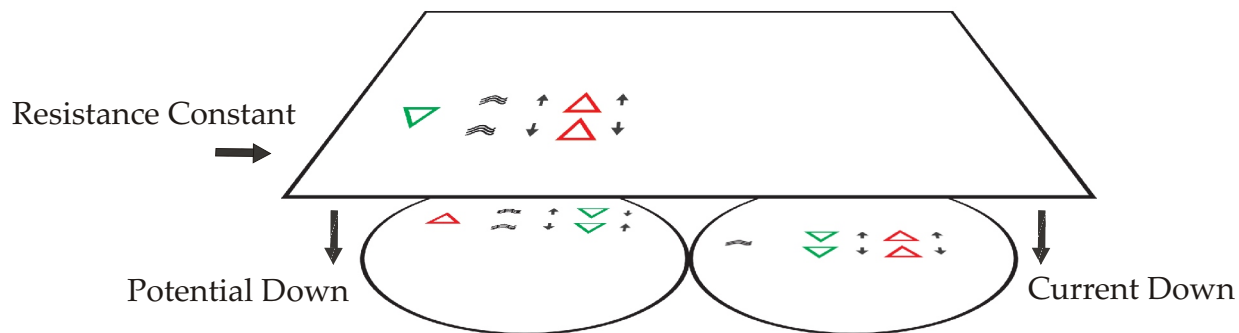

The Story.

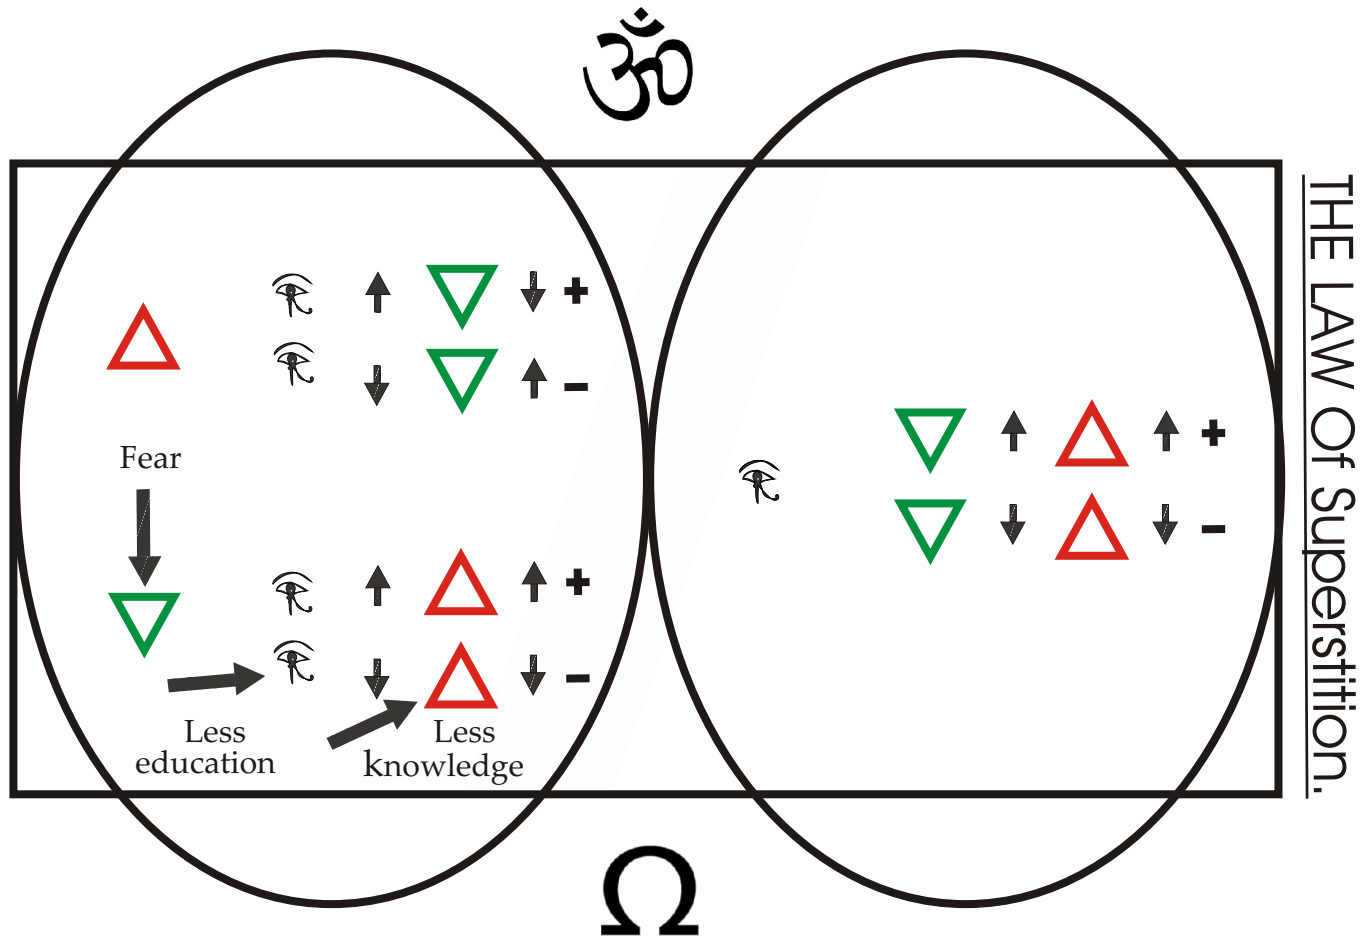

The violence of nature inspires many great tales.

Necessary fear so the young know what to avoid.

If fear is established and constant and education decreases knowledge of the origin of the fear will never be found leaving only superstitious beliefs to become institutionalized.

OHM's Guide.

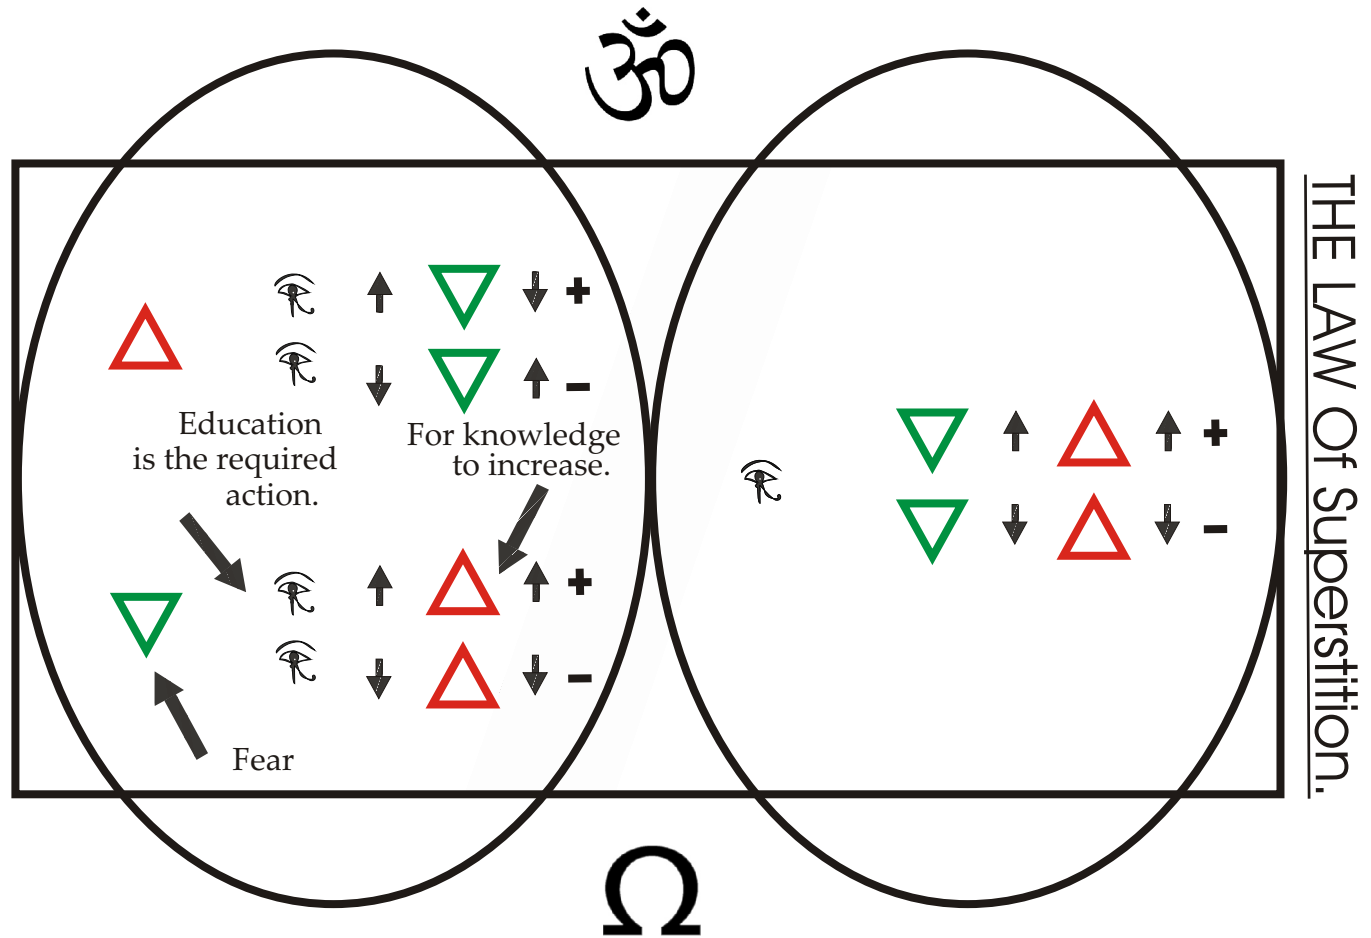

The Story.

If fear is established and constant
and knowledge of its origin is to increase, education must increase.

OHM's Guide.

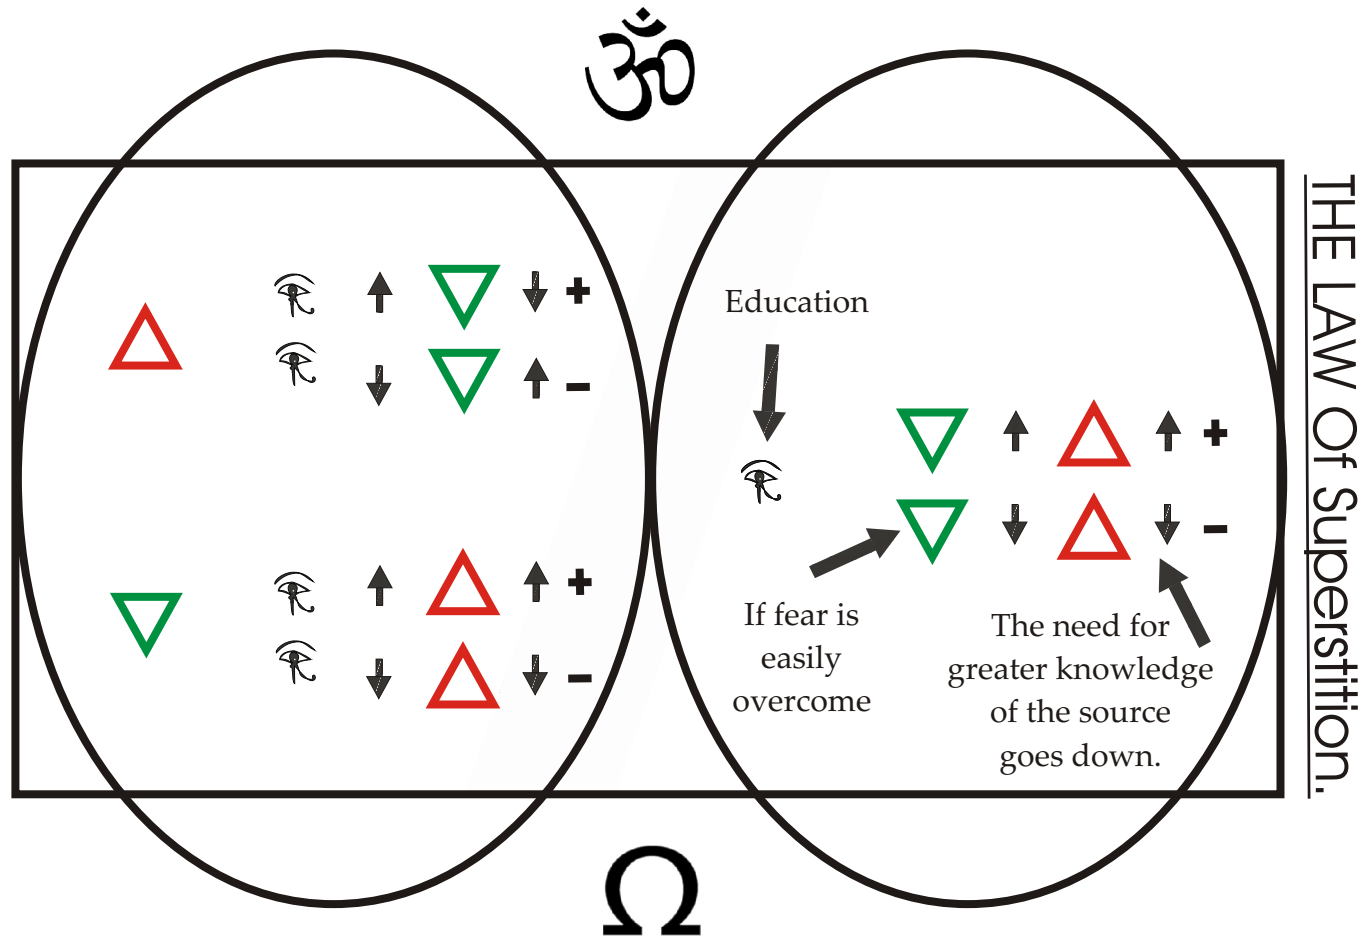

The Story.

If basic education is enough to overcome your fears and superstitions but you remain in your base instinctual state you will have little desire for more knowledge.

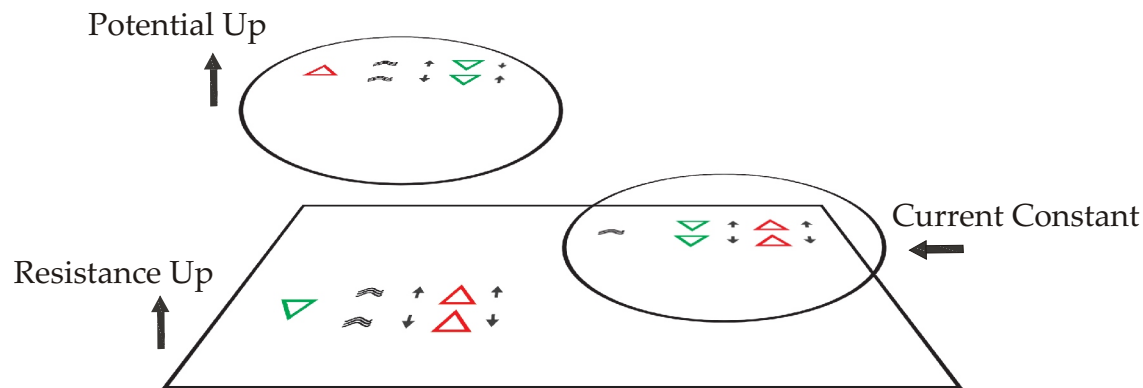

You care only about the immediate and continue to go along with your life until the next fear or superstition forces a return to education.

OHM's Guide.

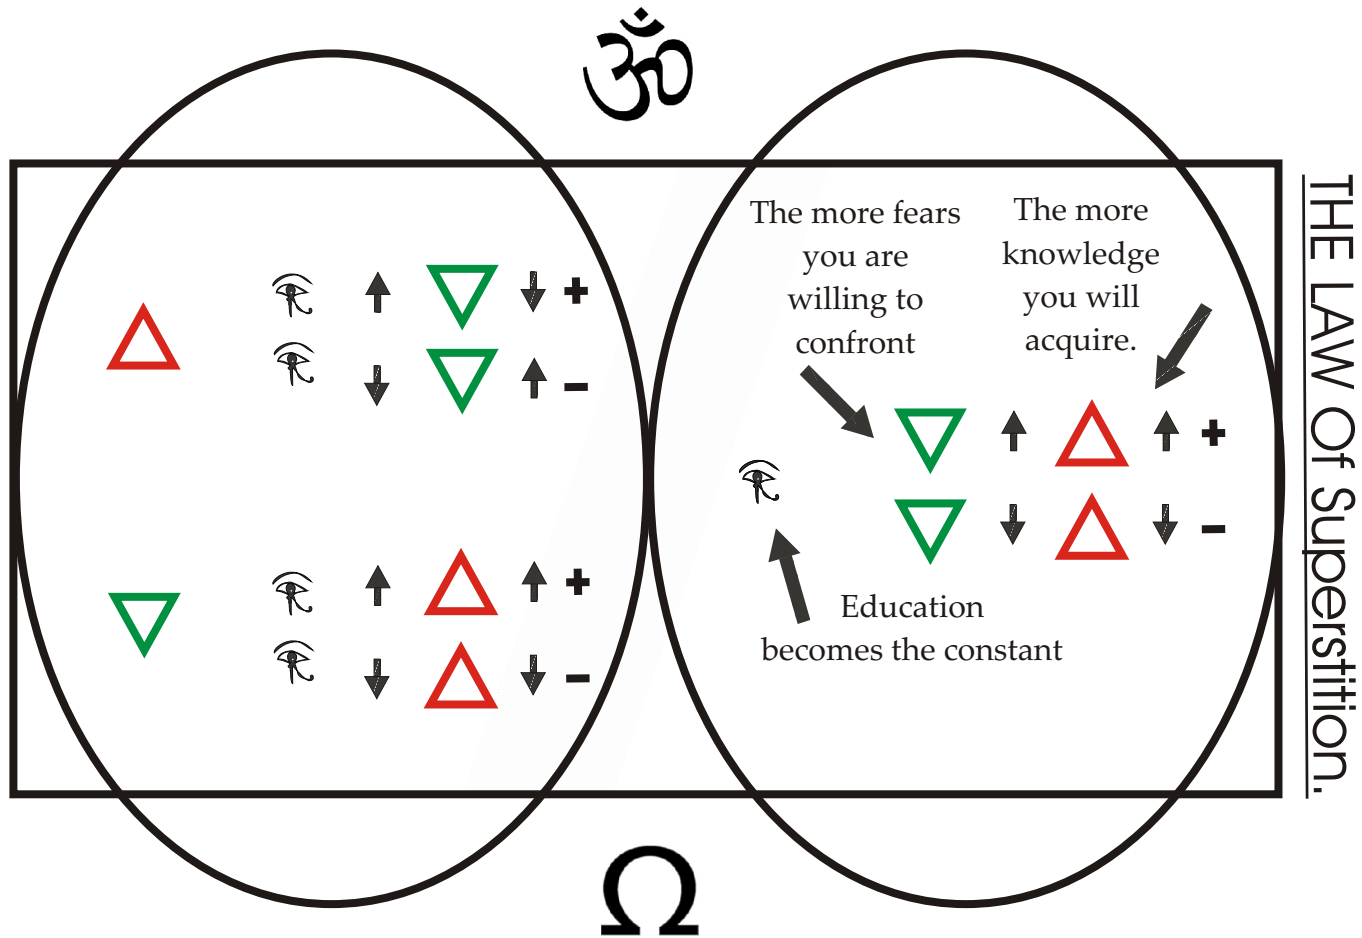

The Story.

Once education is established as the constant the more fears and superstitions you have the more knowledge you must acquire and embrace to overcome them.

OHM's Guide.

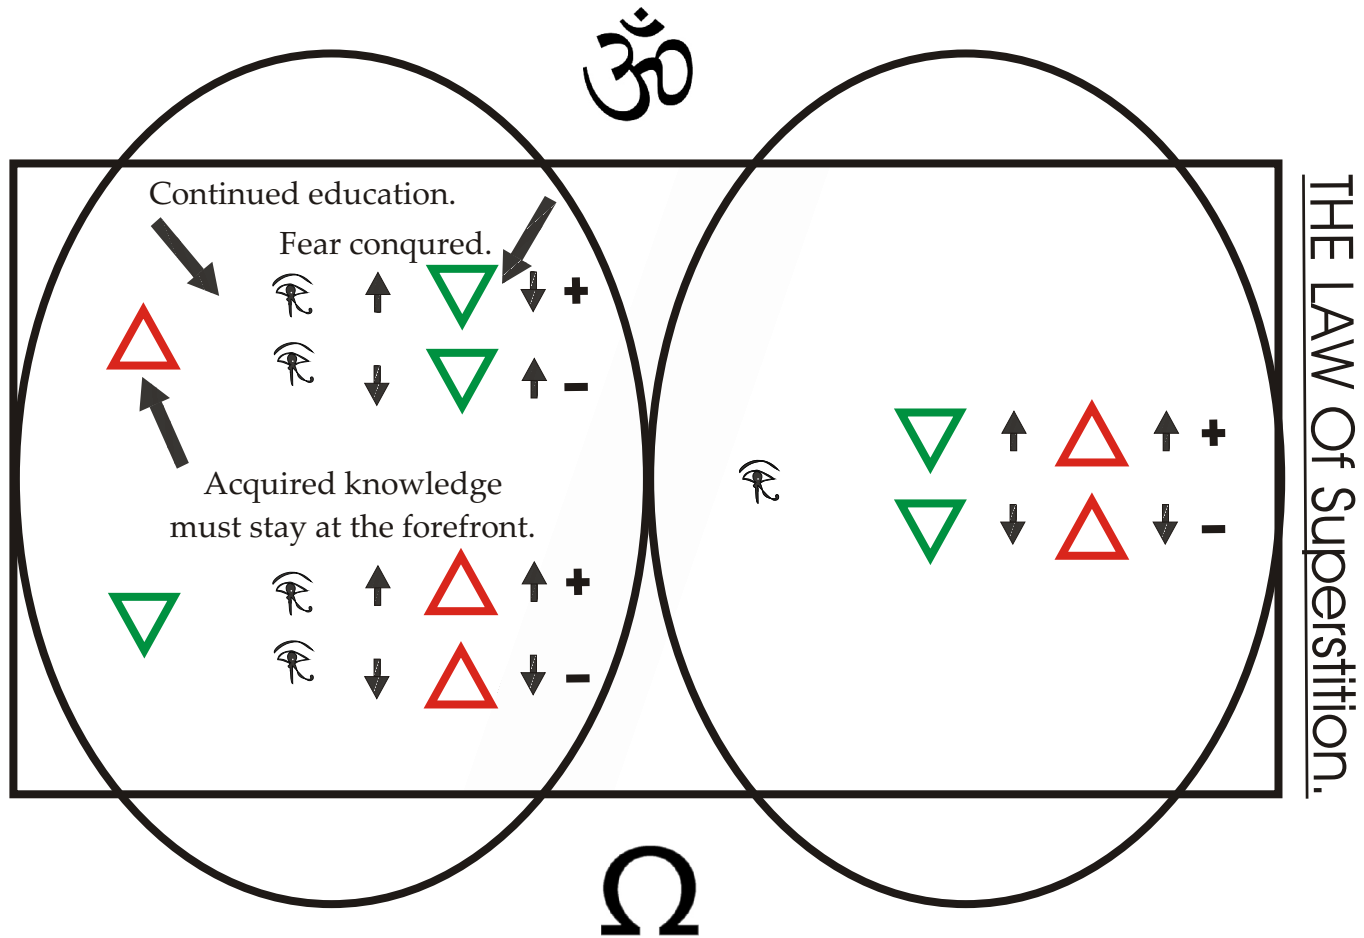

The Story.

Once knowledge is established as the constant in your life, assuming ego has been tamed, you become open minded.

The more educated you become the more fears are vanquished.

OHM's Guide.

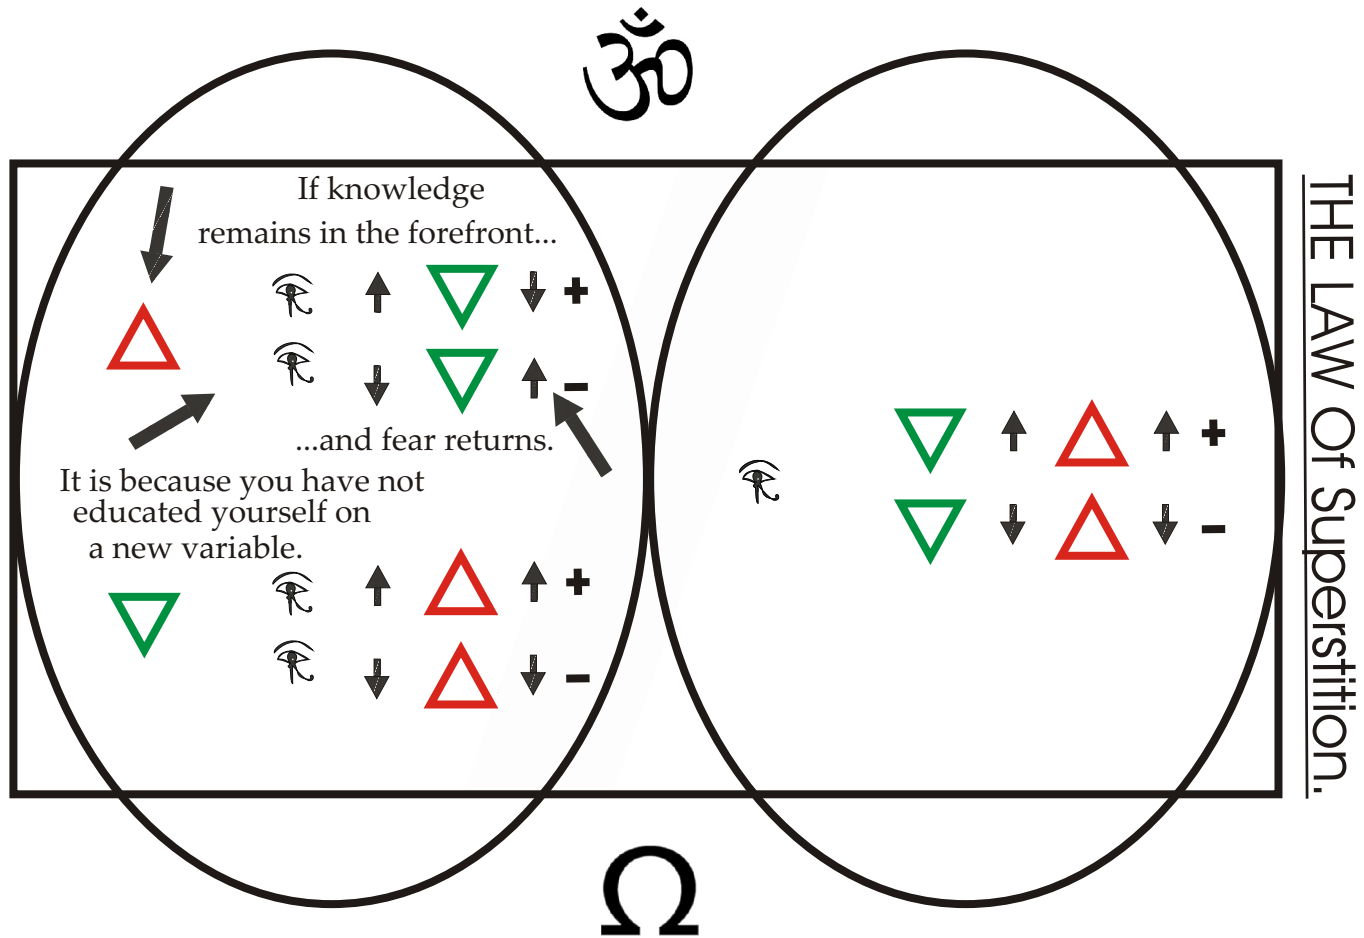

The Story.

Once knowledge is established as the constant in your life should fear come creeping back in so also will the draw to superstitious beliefs grow.

This only ever occurs because you have not taken your time to educate yourself on the origin of the new fear.

OHM's Guide.

This is the foundation of a basic educational system
this occurs first on an individual level before even the most basic social structure appears.

Once the individual has mastered this they move into the next phase of development.

Though the variables change
the same basic pattern repeats.
